

GENDER AUDIT

K.A.H.M Unity Women's College, Manjeri

Introduction

The Gender Audit at KAHM Unity Women's College, Manjeri, is a key initiative that aligns with the institution's broader commitment to quality assurance and continuous improvement. Gender Audit involves a thorough evaluation of institutional policies, practices, and campus culture from a gender perspective, ensuring inclusivity and equity. By assessing aspects such as gender representation, safety measures, inclusive policies, and access to resources, the audit aims to create a more balanced and equitable environment for all students and staff.

Integrating the Gender Audit with the quality audit process helps the college identify areas where gender sensitivity can be enhanced, thus contributing to the overall improvement in the institutional environment. This approach ensures that quality measures are not only focused on academic excellence but also on fostering a campus that respects diversity and promotes equal opportunities.

Aims of the Gender Audit

1. To assess the institution's policies and practices from a gender perspective, ensuring that they are inclusive and sensitive to the needs of all genders.
2. To evaluate the safety, security, and support systems available for students and staff, promoting a secure and respectful campus environment.
3. To identify areas for improvement in gender sensitivity and inclusivity, guiding the implementation of targeted initiatives for a more balanced campus environment.
4. To enhance awareness and promote gender equity among students and staff, aligning with the college's commitment to holistic quality education.

Data Collection Process

1. Google Form: Feedback forms are distributed to students and staff through Google Forms, allowing them to share their experiences and perspectives on gender equity and inclusivity on campus. This feedback serves as a valuable input for identifying gaps and strengths.
2. Feedback from Students: Direct feedback is collected from students through surveys and focus group discussions, enabling a deeper understanding of their needs and concerns related to gender issues. This feedback helps shape strategies for improvement.
3. She Box at College: A "She Box" is installed on the campus, providing a confidential platform for students and staff to raise gender-related grievances or concerns. This mechanism ensures that their voices are heard and addressed in a safe and respectful manner.
4. Awareness Programmes: Regular awareness programmes and training sessions on gender sensitivity are conducted to foster a culture of respect and inclusivity among students and faculty, contributing to the overall quality of the educational environment.

Through these practices, the Gender Audit not only strengthens the college's commitment to gender equity but also enriches the quality audit process, ensuring a more inclusive and holistic approach to institutional development.

Analysis of Gender Audit Student Survey

The following are the analysis of gender audit survey data from students across various departments at KAHM Unity Women's College, Manjeri

Key areas addressed include:

1. Safety on Campus: Most students reported feeling "very safe" or "somewhat safe" on campus, with few reporting any incidents or unsafe experiences.
2. College Facilities: Responses varied from "always accessible" to "sometimes accessible," reflecting satisfaction with facilities like hostels and toilets.
3. Encouragement and Support: A majority felt encouraged to participate in class and received faculty support, though some noted variability in the availability and quality of teaching materials.
4. Participation in Extracurriculars: Involvement in sports and clubs was generally positive but showed some students with minimal engagement.
5. Awareness and Access to Services: Awareness of counselling services and emergency protocols varied. There were mixed responses regarding training on gender-based issues.
6. Overall Satisfaction: Many students expressed being "very satisfied" with their college experience, while others indicated being "somewhat satisfied" or neutral.

The summary reveals a positive general sentiment towards campus safety, support, and satisfaction, though some areas like facility accessibility and student awareness of services show room for improvement.
