14. Anti-dowry Campaign

Under the initiative of the Women Cell of the college, the students took part in the Anti-dowry Campaign on 28th November 2022. As a part of creating awareness against the evil practice of dowry, the students took an oath that they would neither offer nor accept dowry.

The objective of an anti-dowry pledge is to combat the social practice of dowry, which is the giving of gifts, property, or money from the bride's family to the groom's family at the time of marriage. Dowry practices can lead to financial burdens, exploitation, and various forms of abuse against women and their families. By taking an anti-dowry pledge, individuals commit to refusing and discouraging the acceptance or exchange of dowry during marriages.

The primary objectives of an anti-dowry pledge are:

Promoting gender equality: Dowry practices reinforce traditional gender roles and contribute to the subordination of women. By rejecting dowry, the pledge aims to promote equal treatment and respect for women in marriage.

Empowering women: The pledge encourages women and their families to stand against the pressure to give dowry, empowering them to assert their rights and maintain their dignity.

Combating financial exploitation: Dowry demands can place a significant financial burden on the bride's family, leading to economic hardship and debt. The pledge aims to alleviate the financial strain on families and prevent exploitation.

Raising awareness: Taking the pledge helps raise awareness about the negative impacts of dowry and promotes discussions around gender-based discrimination and violence.

Challenging societal norms: The pledge challenges deeply entrenched societal norms and expectations related to dowry, encouraging individuals to question and reject these practices.

The expected outcomes of an anti-dowry pledge include:

Reduction in dowry-related violence: By refusing to accept or demand dowry, the pledge contributes to reducing instances of domestic violence, harassment, and abuse that may occur when dowry expectations are not met.

Economic empowerment: Families are relieved from the financial burden of dowry, allowing them to invest their resources in education, healthcare, and other productive activities. This contributes to the overall empowerment of women and their families.

Change in societal attitudes: Taking the pledge can influence wider societal attitudes towards dowry, challenging the social acceptance of this practice and encouraging a more egalitarian view of marriage.

Enhanced legal protection: Anti-dowry pledges can create awareness about existing legal protections against dowry and support efforts to enforce laws that criminalize dowry-related offenses.

Promotion of alternative marriage practices: The pledge encourages individuals to explore alternative marriage practices that prioritize love, respect, and equal partnership rather than material exchange.

Outcome of World AIDS Day Observation: The outcomes of World AIDS Day observation are varied and impactful. Immediate outcomes include heightened awareness about HIV/AIDS, increased knowledge about prevention and treatment, reduced stigma and discrimination, and improved access to testing and counseling services. The day often sparks discussions that contribute to policy changes, increased funding for HIV/AIDS programs, and strengthened community support networks. Over the long term, the observance aims to contribute to a reduction in new HIV infections, improved access to antiretroviral therapy, and ultimately, the elimination of HIV/AIDS as a global public health threat. Additionally, the day fosters a sense of solidarity and empathy, encouraging individuals and communities to play an active role in the ongoing fight against HIV/AIDS. Continuous evaluation and reflection on the outcomes help shape future initiatives to address the evolving challenges posed by the epidemic.

Water conservation

It's all about
Doing more
With less

Together we can conserve

water conservation

Water conservation is the practice of using water efficiently to reduce unnecessary water usage. According to Fresh Water Watch, water conservation is important because fresh clean water is a limited resource, as well as a costly one.

How To Use water efficiently in daily activities

Turn off the tap while washing dishes

Make sure no leaks in faucets and pipes

Take 5 Minutes shower than 10 minutes

Watering plant with water way

Save blue.
Live green.

Why water conservation is important ?

Conserving water saves energy. Energy is needed to filter, heat and pump water to your home, so reducing your water use also reduces your carbon footprint. Using less water keeps more in our ecosystems and helps to keep wetland habitats topped up for animals like otters, water voles, herons and fish.

Dilna from 6th sem B.Sc. Chemistry

WORLD WATER DAY

Water conservation can be defined as the practice of using water efficiently for reducing unnecessary water wastage. Fresh, clean water is a very limited resource on Earth. Even though about 70 percent of the Earth's surface is covered by water, only less than one percent is available for us as freshwater.
